

BA in English Language Teaching

The IUB BA combines a liberal arts program with a concentration in the chosen major to prepare students for future career challenges. Students graduating with a BA in English Language Teaching will be qualified to take up teaching careers in English at the school and intermediate college level. It is particularly valuable for those who would like to have specialized training in teaching English language skills to Bangla speakers. The courses offered are a combination of survey courses and intensive ones focusing on special areas of English language teaching. Students are also required to take a number of literature courses to introduce them to language in use as well as to prepare them for teaching careers at schools and intermediate colleges where they may be required to teach both language and literature. Graduates may also opt to go on for higher studies for which the intensive courses will have prepared them adequately.
